National Commission to Address Racism in Nursing Funding Opportunity

The National Commission to Address Racism in Nursing and the team at American Nurses Association (ANA) invites you to consider submitting a proposal for the Commission's funding opportunity. This RFP is designed to solicit proposals new or ongoing programs and interventions that work to eliminate racism in nursing. Through this funding opportunity, the Commission is offering up to $20,000 to support efforts in eliminating racism in nursing. The funding term will be 18 months from the date of signing.

The Commission defines racism as:

Assaults on the human spirit in the form of actions, biases, prejudices, and an ideology of superiority based on race that persistently cause moral suffering and physical harm of individuals and perpetuate systemic injustices and inequities. (National Commission to Address Racism in Nursing, 2021)

The Commission is now accepting proposals for evidence-based programs and interventions aimed at dismantling racism in nursing via one of the following pathways:

- Diversity, Belonging & Inclusion Initiatives
Under this pathway, proposals will engage in work that helps to build and/or advance diversity, belonging and inclusion efforts in the nursing workforce and pipeline. Proposal ideas may include a diversity in nursing leadership programs, student nurse recruiting program, or direct care nursing leadership recruitment and retention programs. The focus can include direct care nurses, advance practice nurses, and nurse leaders in academia and practice.
- Anti-racism Education, Immersion & Training
Under this pathway, proposals should target specific education and training with measurable outcomes beyond learning objectives. Target population must be specific to nurses who are in the practice or academic setting. Outcomes and interventions must target structural changes and improvement to institutional policies, practices, and processes.
- Patient & Family Outcomes
Under this pathway, proposals should focus on specific chronic disease management to address patient outcomes related to disparities and access to care. Projects can focus on all aspects of the patient and family experience in the healthcare environment with baseline measurements and post-implementation evaluations for improvement.
- B.I.G. Ideas (Belonging, Innovation, and Growth)
Under this pathway, proposals should include broad, bold, and innovative approaches to advance anti-racism in nursing and care settings. Projects can include novel ideas and approaches to improve nursing and patient specific outcomes in health care.

Projects must include a quality improvement plan with some of the following methods:

- PDSA
 - The Plan-Do-Study-Act (PDSA) method is a way to test a change that is implemented. Going through the prescribed four steps guides the thinking process into breaking down the task into steps and then evaluating the outcome, improving on it, and testing again. (<https://www.ihl.org/resources/Pages/Tools/PlanDoStudyActWorksheet.aspx>)
 - Donabedian Structure Process Outcomes
 - Three components approach for evaluating the quality of care underpins measurement for improvement. The three components are structure, process and outcomes. Measurement for improvement has an additional component – balancing measures. (<https://www.ihl.org/resources/Pages/HowtoImprove/ScienceofImprovementEstablishingMeasures.aspx>)
 - DMAIC model
 - DMAIC is a data-driven problem-solving technique designed to identify and address inefficiencies in a process, which improves its outcomes and makes these improvements more predictable. The acronym stands for the five phases — Define, Measure, Analyze, Improve, and Control. (<https://www.theleansixsigmacompany.co.uk/dmaic-model/>)
 - Design Thinking
 - Design thinking is an extension of innovation that allows you to design solutions for end users with a single problem statement in mind. It not only imparts valuable skills but can help advance your career. It's also a collaborative endeavor that can only be mastered through practice with peers. The five stages of design thinking include:
 - Empathize: research your users' needs
 - Define: state your users' needs and problems
 - Ideate: challenge assumptions and create ideas
 - Prototype: start to create solutions
 - Test: try your solutions out.
